Oasis for Youth opens doors to housing, employment, education and wellness for youth facing homelessness in the suburbs. Oasis provides tools for stability and opportunities to thrive through individual case management, on-site support services and connections to housing and community resources.

At the Center, youth find a safe place where they can rest, have a snack, do their laundry, use the computer or take a shower. Most importantly youth connect to caring adults and critical interventions aimed at increasing their self-sufficiency. In 2015 Oasis helped more than 200 metro area youth; all totaled they made 2,019 visits to the Resource Center. While Oasis focuses outreach in Bloomington, Edina and Richfield, no youth in need are turned away.

Oasis is launching a groundbreaking partnership with the Mall of America to provide employment support and wrap-around services for MOA's young employees.

With the continued support of our community, Oasis envisions a day when all youth at risk of homelessness believe in bright futures filled with hope, stability and self-fulfillment.

An Oasis Youth Story

Diane (not her real name) recently left a family member's apartment due to continuing disagreements and subsequently moved into a youth shelter. Diane didn't know what her next move would be. Her Oasis case manager reached out to her shelter case manager, and together with Diane, created a holistic and collaborative case plan to help her move forward.

Oasis then helped Diane complete an application for the Suburban Host Home program. Diane's Oasis case manager also supported her in securing and maintaining employment, a commendable achievement for a full-time student staying in shelter.

Thanks to open communication and collaboration, Diane, her shelter case manager and her Oasis case manager together created a concrete case plan to help Diane move forward toward securing more permanent and stable housing.
